Soviets Accuse Four U.S. Diplomats of Spy Activities

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has accused four members of the U.S. Embassy of improper activities smacking of espionage but hasn't expelled them from the Soviet Union.

Instead the Soviets barred the quartet from traveling in the Soviet Union outside Moscow for 90 days. There was no indication why they were not expelled, the usual penalty.

The U.S. Embassy said the senior British air attaché in Moscow, Air Commodore A. N. Davis, was involved in one of the incidents with the Americans. But the British Embassy refused to confirm or deny this or to say whether he also had been restricted to Moscow.

The U.S. Embassy said the Soviets rigged incidents to make the Americans look like spies.

An embassy spokesman, confirming the travel ban today after news of it leaked out, said U.S. Charge d'Affaires Walter Stoessel had lodged protests with the Soviets and denied the Americans were engaged in any misconduct or spying.

The spokesman said the Soviets rejected Stoessel's request to lift the travel ban, which does not forbid the men leaving the country.

The Americans were two naval attaches, Cmdr. Stuart Savage of Alma, Kan., and Lt. Leonard Bracken of Philadelphia, Pa., and two air attaches, Lt. Col. Edgar Smith and Capt. Edmund Svetina, both of Dayton, Ohio.

The embassy spokesman said the Soviets accused Savage and Bracken of making illegal photographs and Smith and Svetina of penetrating military territory.

The spokesman said the accusations arose from separate incidents in which the Americans were surrounded by angry

Appalachian Plan Drafted For Congress

10-State Program Would Cost Total Of $4.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special White House message on the economic rehabilitation of the Appalachian area probably will be ready to go to Congress in two weeks, a Commerce Department source said today.

"The report will be ready if President Johnson wants to send it up at that time," the Commerce Department official said, "and it will follow the suggestions made by the Appalachian Commission."

The Appalachian Regional Commission's report to the President Thursday called for the expenditure of approximately $3 billion in federal funds and some $1.3 billion in state money over the next five years to provide a new base for the 10-state area's sagging economic structure.

"I am very, very hopeful that the program will be adopted by this Congress," Undersecretary Roosevelt Jr., chairman of the commission, said at a news conference.

The commission, established a year ago by the late President John F. Kennedy, recommended construction of more highways, dams and sewage facilities, conversion of poor land to pasture for livestock, improved marketing and greater development of the area's coal, timber and other resources, and funds for education, training and welfare for the region's 15.3 million population.

Appalachia consists of mountainous coalfields and timberland stretching from Northern Pennsylvania to Alabama and Georgia. Parts of Ohio, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky and North Carolina also are in the region. Unemployment is 7.1 per cent, compared to 5 per cent in the remainder of the United States. One in three families in the area lives on $3,000 or less a

Salem Twp. Trustees to Push Zoning

The Salem Township Trustees have taken action to proceed with the zoning of the entire township, Clerk Frank Painter reported today.

He said public sentiment arising from the proposed landfill dump back of Orchard Hill School, a move which has been defeated, prompted the trustees to make the decision to press for zoning to "protect the rights of the property owners."

Zoning would provide jurisdiction over construction and other enterprises in the township.

A zoning commission was not named since a group interested in zoning in the northwest part of the township, headed by Milton Steiner, is already in existence. Whether this same body or a new commission will be set up for the entire township has to be decided by trustees. The trustees will defer action

Fairfield-Waterford Board Installs Gray

At the regular meeting of the Fairfield-Waterford Board of Education last night at Crestview School, Harold Gray of RD 2, Leetonia, was formally installed to fill the unexpired term of Glenn Seachrist, who died recently. Gray, a former board member, works for the Melling-Lumber Co.

The board discussed curriculum changes for next year. All students weak in reading will be required to take a course in home economics, a course in reading. In place of fourth year home management will be offered for one period a day, five times a week. Any girl may sign up for the course, whether home economics is taken or not.

The board agreed to sponsor a school bus drivers workshop in accordance with the State Department of Education. The

49 Congressmen Sought

Brazil's Military Arrests Leftists

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—Revolutionary leaders stirred concern among lawmakers today by bypassing Congress in a drive to purge Brazil of the leftist supporters of ousted President Joao Goulart.

At least 49 congressmen—about 10 per cent of the members of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies — were sought on suspicion of subversion.

However, three members of Goulart's Labor party who were picked up Thursday night were released without explanation.

Brazil's military ministers announced antisubversion measures in Rio de Janeiro Thursday night enabling military chiefs to suspend political rights for 10 years and to revoke mandates of federal, state and municipal legislators without court action.

The powers were contained in an "institutional act" ordered by the military revolutionary command without congressional approval. News of the wave of arrests brought an abrupt halt to a night session of the Chamber of Deputies.

Acting Chamber President Afonso Celso demanded an explanation from military authorities.

Congress was steeped in gloom as knots of lawmakers held quiet conversations in the corridors of the congressional building or in their offices.

The "institutional act" also is designed to give the new interim president more power over a reluctant Congress in dealing with Brazil's monumental government problems, including inflation and a chaotic economy. It gives Congress 30 days in which to act on bills proposed by the president. The act permits the president to propose amendments to the constitution and provides for their approval by a simple majority of both houses of Congress instead of the two-thirds majority required previously.

The act will remain in effect until the end of Goulart's unexpired term Jan. 31, 1966. It or

Negro Woman Senator Hit By Gunman

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A gunman fired five shots at Verda Welcome, only Negro member of the Maryland Senate, as she stepped from her car at her home early today.

She was slightly injured when two of the bullets grazed her lower back and left heel.

"I'm just so stunned I don't know what to say," Mrs. Welcome said after being treated by her husband, Dr. Henry C. Welcome, at their home.

"Why, I don't know," she said. "It's just a miracle that the bullets just grazed me."

Mrs. Welcome, who first introduced a public accommodations bill in the Maryland House of Delegates in 1959, was returning from a testimonial dinner at a downtown hotel.

"I had noticed some posters in the back seat and was leaning over, putting them in the front seat when I heard a shot and the left rear window shattered," she said.

"Then the right rear window shattered, but I thought I was just caught in the middle of something going on in the street."

"When I heard the third shot, I realized something had struck me. I started screaming and fell on the seat, but it only stung and I thought I had been hit by some of the glass."

The fourth or fifth shot went through her shoe and grazed her heel.

Dr. Welcome had attended another function at the same hotel and had arrived home only about 15 minutes earlier. He rushed out at the sound of shots, but saw no one.

LBJ Secures 15-Day Truce In Labor Issue

Agreement Comes Within 2 Hours of Midnight Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's trains kept running today after President Johnson persuaded unions and management to call off a scheduled midnight strike showdown. New negotiations open at the White House under his watchful eye.

It was touch and go almost up to the last minute before Johnson announced both sides had agreed to a 15-day delay to sit down once more in an effort to settle their long, snarled dispute over wages and working conditions.

The agreement came within less than two hours of the midnight deadline, when 200,000 members of five unions were to strike on nearly 200 railroads.

"The entire nation is grateful for the patriotic attitude of both the carriers and the brotherhoods," said Johnson in announcing postponement of the gravest labor crisis of his administration.

Johnson had indicated deep concern that a nationwide rail shutdown would cancel out the stimulus of the recent tax cut and seriously affect the U. S. economy.

Negotiations aimed at preventing a new crisis when the 15-day period expires were to begin at 10 a.m. in the Cabinet room of the White House, with Johnson keeping close personal tab on developments.

In addition to top administration labor officials, Johnson called in two well-known private mediators, New York attorney Theodore Kheel and University of Pennsylvania economist George Taylor.

They join Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Assistant Secretary James Reynolds and Chairman Francis A. O'Neill Jr. of the National Mediation Board in trying to settle the five-year-old dispute.

Court action, an act of Congress and seemingly endless talks have so far failed to bring the two sides together.

Agreed To Lift Strike

As part of the deal to postpone the nationwide shutdown, the unions agreed to lift a strike in which they had closed down the 14-state operations of the Illinois Central Railroad in

Viet Cong Falls Back After 2nd Big Engagement

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist guerrillas fell back south, of Saigon today after a heavy engagement that took a severe toll of casualties on both sides, including the life of a U.S. pilot.

The battle Thursday was the second major clash in as many days in an area considered by the Vietnamese government to be one of the most crucial in the long war against the Viet Cong.

The U.S. pilot and his Vietnamese observer were killed when their Vietnamese fighter plane was shot down by Communist gunfire at the height of the battle. A U.S. spokesman reported the recovery of the body of the pilot, the 123rd American killed in action since 1962.

Two U.S. Army helicopters were hit and forced to land near the scene of the battle. One American crewman was injured slightly. One helicopter was destroyed by its crew.

Two U.S. Army men were wounded in the battle, which swirled around Mo Cay, 50 miles south of Saigon.

Wallace Vote Hailed by South Seen As Opposition To Rights Measure

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Relishing the role of interested bystanders, Southerners generally applauded the vote polled by Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama in his Wisconsin politicking.

Reaction was varied. Comments from about 35 political leaders and newspaper editors in an Associated Press survey included:

"A great victory."
"A wild-goose chase."
"A political revolution."
"A reaction to Negro militancy."

But most of the spokesmen viewed Wallace's showing as an indication of widespread opposition to the civil rights bill. Wallace got nearly 25 per cent of the presidential primary vote in a race with Gov. John W. Reynolds of Wisconsin, who carried the banner for President Johnson.

On his return to Montgomery, Wallace said the vote was "for the people of Alabama and the people throughout the country who stand up for constitutional government."

He did not say anything directly about racial issues which catapulted him into the national spotlight with his doorway stand against University of Alabama desegregation last year. But he plugged for support of an independent elector slate in Alabama.

His home state had high praise for Wallace. Said the Montgomery Advertiser:

"The excursion to the Far North by the little Alabama giant has shaken the Democratic party and alerted the Republican party to the possibility of a new national mood."

The Mobile Press called it a "political revolution. A defeat for President Lyndon Johnson and the ultra-liberal crowd to which he constantly caters."

Wife of Robbery Victim Leaves With Holdup Man

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A gunman took $200 from Walter Belfield early today, then fled with Belfield's wife and 4-year-old son, police said.

"This is not a kidnapping," said Detective Carroll Cutright. "There is every indication the woman went with him voluntarily."

Belfield, about 50, identified the gunman to police as James Holt, 35, a friend of Mrs. Belfield.

Holt, Mrs. Belfield, 25, and her son, Walter, went to an Akron bus station, police said. A dispatcher said a trio answering their description boarded a bus for Canton. The woman had rented a storage locker at the station, where police found some of her clothes.

Belfield, an employee of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., arrived home shortly before midnight. He said Holt met him in the driveway and used Belfield's own gun to force him into the house. Holt took Belfield's wallet, Belfield told police.

Belfield said he was tied and left in the kitchen and that the trio fled in Belfield's car, which was found near the bus station.

MacArthur's Body In State Services Set In Norfolk Saturday

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The old soldier was home today, his last long journey at an end.

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur lay in repose in a flag-draped coffin on a catafalque over the crypt containing his tomb into which he will be lowered Saturday.

And this old Navy town turned out by the thousands to pay final respects to the warrior most known only by his glory and the symbols of his fame—the crushed campaign hat and the cornucopia pipe.

He will lie in state as the long lines pass through the pillared MacArthur Memorial until the Episcopal funeral services at the pink and black crypt.

The reason MacArthur chose to be buried in the memorial named for him is that his mother was born, raised and married in this seaport. The general, who always called himself a "spiritual son of Virginia," actually was born in Little Rock, Ark., where his father, Lt. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, was stationed at the time.

The memorial itself is a reconverted courthouse and houses MacArthur's papers, one of his cornucopia pipes and the campaign hat with the gold braid.

President Johnson, head bowed and homburg hat in hand, gave his final salute Thursday to the hero of three wars at the Washington airport.

The President will be represented at the funeral Saturday by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

In cool, windy weather a crowd of more than 200,000 gathered in Norfolk as a giant Air Force C130 Hercules brought MacArthur's body from the cap-

Two of the men, Robert Norris, 20, of Lodi and Ray Kling, 18, of near Lodi, appeared in Municipal Court here Thursday and were bound over to the grand jury on theft charges. The other two, Ivan Byers, 21, of near Medina and Joseph Lawton, 23, of Lodi, are being held.

A sheriff's deputy said the case was cracked when Lawton "chickened out" and returned 27 cases of eggs to the farm.

School Drop-Out Rate In Ohio Cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Stricter requirements and national publicity seem to have assisted in cutting the drop-out rate in Ohio high schools.

A report to be released by the Ohio Department of Education shows about 34 of every 1,000 Ohio public high school students were drop-outs last year, compared to 44 of every 1,000 the previous year.

The statistical study was prepared by Russell F. Getson of the Education Department's Division of Guidance and Testing and Leonard Nachman formerly of the Division of Research. Nachman now is with the U.S. Department of Education in Washington.

The authors suggest that tougher regulations for dropping out of school have contributed to the decline. In most cases a person under 18 must have a job before he can legally leave school.

"There are fewer jobs opportunities each year for unskilled workers," Getson commented.

Another reason is the attention given the drop-out by newspapers, magazines and television, warning of the problems facing those who do not complete high school, Getson said.

"A kid's bucking lots of authority when he decides to drop out of school," Getson said. The authors also noted the increased assistance to potential drop-outs by the schools, offering better guidance and classes to better fit the needs of those with lower intelligence or little interest in regular school programs.

But the statistics still show there are many young persons who do not finish high school. There were 88,506 graduates of Ohio public high schools in June 1963, but more than 17,000 students had left during the school year.

Cubans Get the Message-Constantly

The hammer in the Red hammer-and-sickle symbol is being used by Fidel Castro to pound-pound-pound home the message of communism to the Cuban people.

Pictures at right and below, taken in Havana by Dan Bjarnason, post-graduate student in journalism at Ottawa's Carlton University reflect the job that can be done by a well-oiled propaganda machine when geared to an ideology.

Gone is the American eagle from atop the Havana Memorial to the Battleship Maine dead, torn down long since by anti-U. S. demonstrators. Plaque at foot of the monument honors Cubans killed in the disaster, ignores the American lives lost in the tragedy.

Huge poster on a Havana plaza, background featuring portrait of Fidel Castro, hails fifth anniversary of the Cuban revolution. Pictures of Lenin and Marx are at far right atop wall which bears the message: "Fatherland or Death — We Shall Win."

"Economy" is the watchword of huge signs which almost obscure this Havana building. At left, "greater production at less cost" is the message for Cuba's sugar workers. At right is the admonition that 1964 is the "year of economy."

Double-Talk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Spring is the season for "improvement."

It is a good time to hold a double-talk drill to brush up on your conversational skills.

Double-talk is the old banana oil that greases the social gears in our creaky civilization. It is the art of saying something meaningful in any situation without disclosing what you are really thinking.

Here are a few examples of double-talk in action—followed by their literal translations:

"Heavens, dear, it's been ages and ages since I last saw you." And then my luck had to change.

"Oh, professor, your lecture was absolutely enchanting — it carried me away." If I don't pass in this course, I'll never get initiated into my sorority.

"Don't tell me you're 55 years old. I'd never have guessed it." I'd have guessed you already were drawing Social Security.

"With me your word is as your bond." It has to be—after all, what company would bond you?

"Jim, you've got the neatest looking hair on any man I know." Why is it you never can put your toupee on straight?

"The main thing is that every citizen go to the polls and vote—regardless of which candidate he favors." If you're not going to vote for me, stay home.

"Of course I want to take you to church today, Martha." Only a nut would play golf in this kind of weather.

"I believe every man has a right to stand up on his own two feet and say what's on his mind." If you'll ever shut up, I'll tell you what's on mine.

"Stop worrying. I wouldn't breathe a word of this to anybody in the world." Wow, who'll I tell first?

"No, I'm not angry with you. Live and let live—that's my motto." So please drop dead.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Breathing Ills Are Common

Q—For six months, I have had spells of what my doctor calls hyperventilation syndrome. What causes it and what can I do to get rid of it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A—Your condition is much commoner than we doctors used to think. The person who hyperventilates gets spells of breathing too fast and too deeply. This is usually due to nervous tension and is more common in women than in men. When there is an emotional crisis the hyperventilation does not occur until the crisis has passed.

The breathing, which is sometimes so slightly increased in depth and frequency as not to be noticeable, washes too much carbon dioxide out of the blood, thereby creating a condition known as alkalosis.

Hyperventilation is hard for a doctor to recognize because it may cause a wide variety of symptoms. In some persons it causes a severe chest pain that may be mistaken for a heart attack. In another, it may cause bladder, colic or arthritis.

It may cause muscular twitching and fainting and be falsely labeled epilepsy or it may cause a victim to talk loudly and stagger as though drunk. The manifestations are often limited to one side of the body, usually the left side in right-handed persons.

No drug is required to relieve the attacks, but prompt relief can be had by breathing into a paper bag held tightly over the nose and mouth or by merely holding your breath as long as you can. You should train yourself to avoid yawning or sigh-

ng. Incidentally, fainting, when it occurs, automatically stops an attack.

Q—Is there any medication for waterlogging, especially in the ankles?

A—Your edema can be due to various causes. If a leaky heart valve has resulted in a decompensated heart, your doctor may want you to take one of the digitalis preparations. Whatever the cause, he may also want to give you one of the newer diuretics. These drugs help to draw fluid from the waterlogged tissues and excrete it through the kidneys.

Q—What can I do to relieve a burning sensation in my feet? I am 52 years old and stand on a cement floor about 10 hours a day.

A—It is often hard to get rid of this complaint. In some victims multivitamin preparations have been helpful. You should, if possible, get off your feet for five or ten minutes every hour. Make sure your shoes are not tight in any dimension. Wear socks of a soft fabric and change them daily. Foot powder on the skin and dusted into your shoes may give some comfort.

Incompatible Goals

If the Johnson administration insists in bearing down on a theory that overtime pay penalties will spread employment, it will have to dig up evidence to that end.

The evidence will be hard to find. The Johnson administration is in the awkward position of having to admit it didn't work that way with time and a-half overtime penalties but would work that way with double-time penalties. Its argument is shaky.

Aside from overtime penalties that haven't caused employers to hire more people, the United States is grappling with another economic fallacy — that high normal and overtime wage rates are compatible with a high rate of employment.

OF ALL MAJOR industrial nations, the United States is the only one plagued with a stubbornly high total of unemployment. Even discounting the high rate of unemployment by making allowances for wobbly statistical information, Americans are beginning to see how marginally employable people have been frozen out of the job market by arbitrary restrictions. Vast amounts of work that could be done by potential employees whose wages can't be afforded is left undone or is done by potential employers, especially in the category of domestic service.

High wage rates and ever-thicker fringe benefits have subsidized do-it-yourself projects and automation.

ELEVATORS formerly were run by employees now are run by automatic controls.

Stores that once employed clerks now employ cashiers.

Hundreds of thousands of people whose efforts could be turned to good account are jobless because no one can afford to hire them. They can claim more income doing nothing than they could claim if they worked at realistic wage rates. But realistic rates are forbidden by law.

More jobs by penalizing employers with double overtime rates? Who says so?

Something Different In Coal

Remembering the bad old days when John L. Lewis kept one eye on the supply of coal above ground and the other on the calendar, everybody now approaching the golden years thought it an improvement when springtime strikes in the coal industry went out of fashion. Everybody seemed happy that a new contract had been negotiated in Washington this year without threat of a strike.

It made sense to keep working the surviving diggings, rather than close them down while miners helped their wives with spring housecleaning, painted their houses and went fishing until a shortage of coal developed. Shutting off the coal supply periodically was one reason soft-coal mining was in trouble. The industry as a whole had short-sightedly driven its customers into the market for gas and oil.

But something different now has cropped out in soft-coal mining — a post-contract strike against the union. The United Mine Workers contract with the mine operators is being attacked by dissatisfied members of locals in five UMW districts.

The discontented miners apparently are acting in good faith. That is, they have not been put up to some mischief as part of union strategy to get more out of management than their official negotiators were able to get. They are running a wildcat strike. If it spreads, the UMW's authority to negotiate in behalf of its members will be under a cloud.

Industrial Safety

A new record was set when 112 awards went to 80 Columbiana county business firms Wednesday at the annual banquet of the County Industrial Safety Campaign, held in the Masonic Temple.

This achievement was the result of the combined efforts of the participating industries and the safety group chairmen led by Salem's Michael Schuller. Because of the outstanding cooperation of the various firms which "preach" shop safety, the district has an outstanding record of fewer "lost time" accidents which means employees have saved their eyes, limbs and even their lives.

In the 14 years that the county industrial safety program has been promoted, the ratio of shop accidents has been cut 50 per cent, a significant fact which is a credit to the program as a whole and to the leaders of industry who cooperate to make it possible.

It Scares Us

Nothing could leave me colder than the guess by a British anthropologist that modern man evolved from creatures whose fossil remains he found in East Africa.

This kind of deductive reasoning is crazy.

It gives people something to talk about. But the dangerous thing about it is taking it seriously.

Is Dr. Louis S. B. Leakey, who reports this latest discovery, competent to tell us what happened a couple million years ago?

He has a treasure trove of old bones from which he has constructed postulations that he claims "shatter our whole concept of man." This comes about, he explains, because his bones prove man evolved from a creature that lived in East Central Africa nearly two million years ago. Fancy that.

THE TROUBLE IS, our remote ancestors had no idea we'd be curious about them. Except for Egyptians mummified and buried in tombs that kept their remains intact, no one ever gave serious thought to anthropologists trying to reconstruct the ancient past. Everything was left to chance.

There's a question whether anything ever can be done about this. Even with modern technology, it would be impossible to establish a link with the future that would last longer than a few thousand years.

Nearly everything man has done on earth will be obliterated in less than another 5,000 years, which — as time is measured — is only a stutter in the endless pageant of world history.

It is ridiculous for old bone collectors, no matter how learned, to crow that they have settled something important by discovering a few scraps of fossilized evidence. They have discovered nothing on this vast planet but the illimitable scope of human ignorance and the incomprehensibly complex maze of trial and error from which man emerged as the earth's principal communicator, instead of the aardvark.

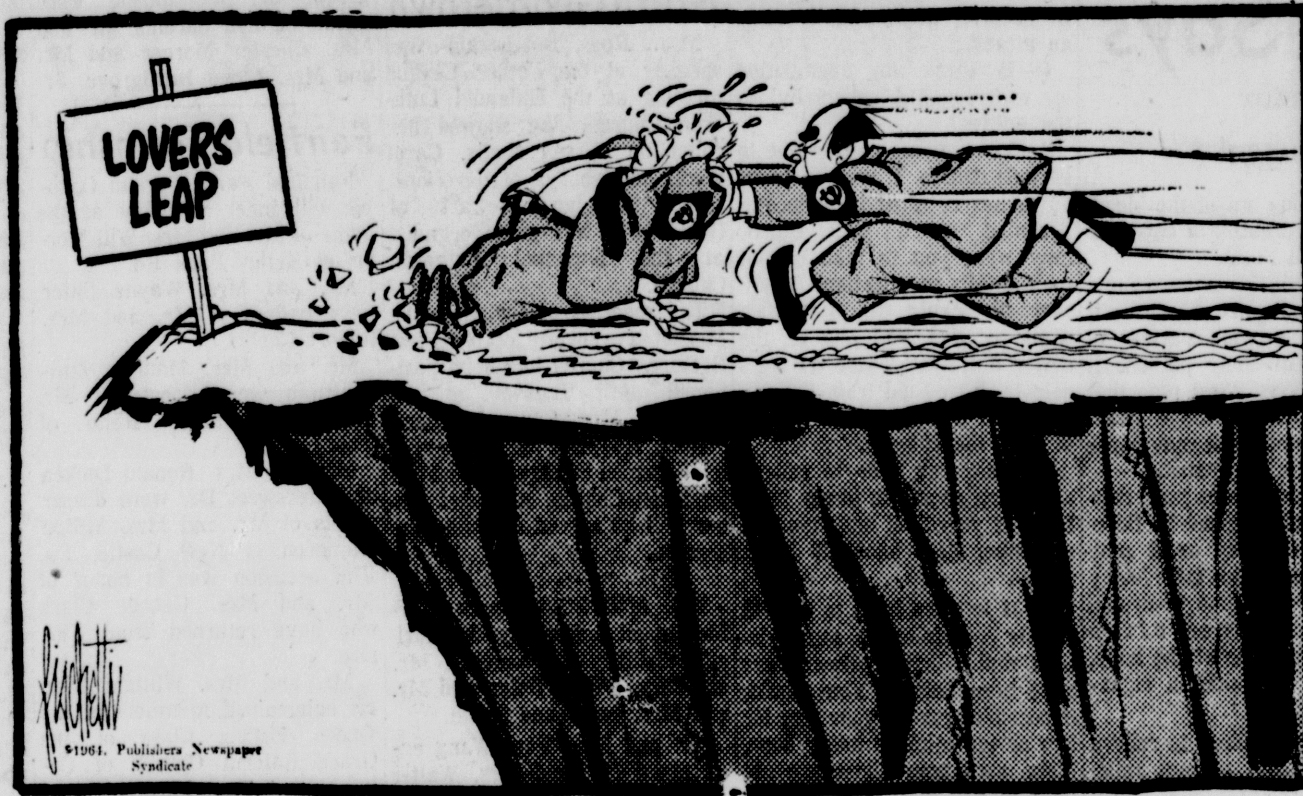

THIS IS NOT intended to take anything away from anthropologists. They are entitled to equal credit with all others who have tried to clear up the mystery — religionists, evolutionists and all others.

They all do the best they can with the limited means at hand — their own intelligence. They always run up against one another when they are at cross-purposes, as they always are.

That is all right, too, as long as we understand their problem, which is how to explain what has been lost in the mists of unfathomable antiquity so long that the inscrutable Sphinx is a contemporary sculpture.

It would be a service to mankind a million years hence if we could preserve specimens of ourselves. But we can't, so anthropologists will have to rely on luck.

They may run across some old bones from a gorilla that died in a traveling circus in Far-Out, Wyo., and deduce this was homo sapiens circa 2000 — and they may be right. It scares me.

Omen In Wisconsin

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Maybe what has happened in the Wisconsin primary will give Congress pause. It may teach a lesson often forgotten — that a substantial segment of the American people resent intrusion into their private lives and their freedom to choose their associates, black or white, yellow, on the basis of their own judgment and their own likes or dislikes.

David Lawrence, yellow, on the basis of their own judgment and their own likes or dislikes.

If resentment already evidenced across the Northern states — not merely in the South — is beginning to be expressed in the form of votes at the polls, then a crisis of major proportions may come again to America.

The last crisis of this kind — governmental coercion in an attempt to achieve prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors — ended in a debacle. It was largely the fault of the prohibitionists, who could not see that their methods were wrong.

Today, the cause of civil rights, which in many respects is a just cause, is headed for another debacle, largely because its proponents have chosen the wrong methods to win public support.

It's easy enough to say that in Wisconsin mostly Republicans gave a symbolic vote for the arguments of Gov. Wallace of Alabama. Unquestionably there were Democrats who felt the same way.

THE EXPECTATION at first had been that the Alabama governor would get only 5 per cent of the vote. He finally received 25 per cent of all votes cast. Indeed, in the Democratic primary itself he got 34 per cent.

The significant development is that, in a state as far from the South as Wisconsin — known for its progressive thinking — an election was actually conducted in which civil rights was an issue, and 25 per cent of the voters registered their protest against it.

On the same day, moreover, the Wisconsin primary was being held, a tragedy occurred in Cleveland, Ohio, where an impassioned minister was killed behind a bulldozer. In that city, the mayor has been trying to halt the violent demonstrations in a school-segregation crisis. The trespassers on public-school property were trying to get the city to abandon the construction of certain schools. This method of demonstration touched off sporadic violence and at least 15 persons were injured and 26 persons were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct or resisting arrest.

The responsibility for these tragic happenings rests on some of the leaders in the civil rights movement, particularly on those leaders who misconstrued demonstrations like the famous March on Washington as seeming to give the stamp of approval to demonstrations of all kinds.

TODAY, MANY of the Northern cities, including New York and Chicago, are conscientiously striving to handle the difficult problem of racial integration. They find themselves occupied not merely with what the Constitution and the law require — namely, that there shall be no racial discrimination in citizenship rights. They are instead being stampeded to correct "racial imbalance" by methods which introduce a counter-discrimination — as, for instance, against those white citizens whose children are being prevented from going to their own neighborhood schools.

This is one of the demands of civil rights leaders in their boycotts and other demonstrations.

Also, the newspapers in Cleveland report that a local rifle club is being formed to protect the civil rights demonstrators. There are said to be about 16 such rifle clubs in the country, and their avowed object is to intervene wherever police guarantees are deemed inadequate.

How can public sentiment express itself against encroachments on private rights. The citizens of Wisconsin found a way, and so did the voters in Kansas City, Mo., this week when they voted on a city ordinance which dealt with public accommodations.

THE ORDINANCE was designed to enlarge the number of places in which discrimination would be prohibited and went beyond the provisions of the pending bill in Congress. The measure was under vigorous attack by tavern owners, and the vote was about 50-50, as the ordinance won by a narrow margin.

Why, in a place as far distant from Alabama as Kansas City, would the citizens be divided evenly on this question if the issues were as clear as some of the supporters of the so-called civil rights legislation have described them?

The problem in Kansas City, just as in other cities, is one that turns on the extent to which an effort to prevent discrimination results in a drive whereby governmental authorities control freedom of association and freedom of choice of customers in private business.

All this adds up to civic resentment, the first signs of which are beginning to appear in different sections of the country. The pending civil rights bill is only a first step in the crusade.

THE REAL CRISIS will come when the federal government tries to enforce the provisions of the proposed law not only in public accommodations but in the handling of employment in various kinds of businesses.

Demands that racial quotas become paramount guidelines of employment can only provoke deep-seated antagonisms if the government agencies set up their own methods of determining efficiency and qualifications for a job in private business in America.

Regulator of Commerce

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON

Editor Frank R. Ahlgren, of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, a community leader in a great city of the middle South, has studied the proper role of the federal government in our expanding economy.

He is no impractical radical who has lived remote from day-to-day considerations. On the contrary, he has been close to the business and commerce of his community.

That is why he is concerned about the future of America. Mr. Ahlgren's opinions merit the most serious consideration, and when he says that "the principle of free competition stands in the shadow of the hangman's noose," as he told Freedom Forum XXV, let's listen.

THE FEDERAL government, he thinks, has a proper role as to stimulus and control of the economy. But the following words comprise the general picture that he draws:

"The whole ebb and flow of American life and business, the Federal Government is our business partner."

It is the biggest — and frequently the only — customer of major industries. Space communications will do for an example.

Then it is our predominant highway builder.

It is our mailman.

Our banker.

Our would-be school teacher.

It is the prime contractor for towering office buildings and huge hospitals.

It is the guarantor of airline solvency, just as it once provided the land for ribbons of rails crisscrossing the nation.

Through taxation, it decides how much disposable income each man and each corporation will have.

It controls advertising, which is the progenitor of much mass demand for new products.

It decides how many hours a man may work, and how much money he may earn, and how much he must be paid.

It can say that an unproductive man, without skill should have a job at a minimum wage, or it can support him if he is unemployed.

IT CAN ENCOURAGE young people to channel their abilities into productive lives, or it can instill in them the belief that indolence can be profitable.

It can encourage growth to meet new markets, or it can heed ivory-tower analysts who dabble with untried and untested theoretical cures.

And all of this because the Constitution states that the Federal Government may regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the states — and with Indian tribes."

Having said all this, and more, Editor Ahlgren sees that we stand as a nation at the turning point. He sees the opening of potential markets as one of the great dramas of our exciting era. With zooming population, new products, and ever higher standards of living, wider markets can be opened.

We know how to advertise and to sell the desire for more goods. Our highly skilled labor is increasing its productivity. Automation is bringing efficiency. But, he says, the element of Federal control has gotten out of hand, presenting us with "a maze of doubts and dead-ends."

HE TOLD THE Forum: "We await with hope the day that our national leadership acknowledges the need to liberate industry and agriculture from government imposed restraint."

Ours is not a system that has been proven wrong. It is simply impossible to operate under the unwieldy and chaotic controls which years of bureaucratic bungling have erected. The markets for growth are here in an affluent America of 190 million persons and a world with billions of people, most of whom are hungry for higher standards of living.

His remedies for the muddle involve chiefly the acceptance of responsibility and assuming of duties in public life. The public needs to be reached in a convincing manner by those who are anxious to contribute to the nation's well-being. In his words, get up and "get out of the swivel chairs and into the mainstream of public ideas."

It's not enough that businessmen understand profit squeezes, plant modernization, business cycles, and lack of incentive.

The point he said, is to convince the public that in helping all business it is nourishing all men. "Attainable markets, yet untapped, lie before us."

With the proper perspective in government control, and with the stimulus of free competition they can be reached."

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: In 1926, when I was a youngster, my mother died. I was an only child and the family had quite a lot of money. My dad managed to lose everything by the time I was graduated from high school. He is dead now.

A few weeks ago, at a family party, they got to talking about my mother and what beautiful jewelry she had. One of my cousins asked what happened to the jewelry. My great uncle replied, "They buried her in it."

When we got home I mentioned to my wife that we could sure use some money and I would like to have my mother's grave dug up and sell the jewelry. She looked at me like I was crazy.

Would this be such a terrible thing to do? After all, I'm entitled to whatever worldly goods my parents had. My wife says the thought of it makes her skin crawl. May I have your opinion? — PRACTICAL MAN.

Dear Man: How practical can you get? You've managed to get by this long without digging up any graves, haven't you?

If you are so nuts about money why don't you dig up a second job?

False Friends

Dear Ann: We are all shook up. It was discovered a few days ago that a certain girl in our class (we are high school juniors) has been putting up a "false front."

Her shower partner got mad at her for some petty reason and told. The news has spread like wildfire and the boys are making rude remarks. The girl is so embarrassed she can't hold her head up.

We all feel sorry for her because she is a good person. Also, we don't feel that what she did was such a crime. She is tall and thin and built like a flagpole.

Please print this letter with a little plea for understanding. Thank you from all of us.— SORRY FOR HER.

Dear Sorry: I can imagine no topic which would be less anybody else's business than this one.

A girl does not owe an affidavit to the public that everything they see is for real. This goes for tee, eye-lashes, hair, and yes—measurements.

The one who should be hanging her head in shame is that big-mouth dame who blabbed.

Peeping Wife

Dear Ann: I have a lot of respect for your advice. Am I immature or is there something wrong with the man I married?

Wallace (not his real name) is 30 years old. We have been married seven years and have two pre-school children. Wallace is a faithful and considerate husband and a fine father. Although we have our little spats, I would say our marriage is a solid one. I should add, our sex life is very satisfying.

Last week I discovered by accident that Wallace has hidden some girlie magazines under his tool chest in the basement workshop. I've heard about such magazines but never had seen one. Believe me I was shocked that girls would pose that way without even covering up their faces.

Should I throw the magazines out and keep quiet, tell him I know they are there, or just forget it? Help me. — NAOMI.

Dear Naomi: Your husband is still operating at an adolescent level — like the little boy who hides behind the garage and smokes a cigarette.

Tell him you have discovered the magazines and you hope he will outgrow the peeking stage before his children are old enough to use his tool chest.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to here in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

United Civic Group Rejects Proposal

WINONA — The United Civic Improvement Association met Thursday night at the Methodist Church, with Don Murphy of Salem, chairman, presiding.

The group was formed last July to secure a doctor for the northwest Columbiana County, serving parts of Butler, Hanover, Salem, Center, West and Knox townships.

A letter was read from the Sears Roebuck Foundation, advising the association it would find a doctor for the area if the group built a diagnostic medical center.

The association agreed the cost would be prohibitive and was unnecessary because of the proximity of the Salem City Hospital and Central Clinic.

The group decided to accept the foundation's offer to evaluate the area.

The group's annual meeting will be Tuesday, at 8 p.m. at the Methodist Church.

Dear Folks: So many of you have asked if I could get the original recipe for the famous U. S. Senate Restaurant bean soup, and also the recipe for the soup served in the U. S. House of Representatives.

Well, I went to the Senate and ordered their soup for 25 cents a bowl. It was delicious. I then went to the House and tried their soup. Just as delicious but with a slight difference.

United States Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., was good enough to get both recipes for us. Now wasn't that sweet of him?

The story goes that in 1904 Speaker of the House, Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois, came into the House restaurant and ordered bean soup.

Bean soup had been omitted from the menu that day, because it was particularly humid and hot in Washington.

"Thunderation, I had my mouth set for bean soup," he roared, "and from now on, hot or cold, rain, snow or shine, I want it on the menu every day."

And so it has been — bean soup on the menu every day since.

Now, we cannot find these recipes in any cook book, so be sure to clip them out so you will have them handy. We do not keep back copies of columns.

Here 'tis:

SENATE'S BEAN SOUP

Take 2 pounds of small Navy Pea Beans, wash, and run through hot water until beans are white again.

Put on the fire with four quarts of hot water. Then take 1½ pounds of smoked ham hocks, boil slowly approximately three hours in covered pot.

Braise one onion chopped in a little butter, and, when light brown, put in bean soup. Season with salt and pepper, then serve.

Do not add salt until ready to serve. (Eight persons.)

HOUSE BEAN SOUP

Take 2 lb. No. 1 white Michigan beans.

Cover with cold water and soak overnight.

Drain and re-cover with water.

Add a smoke ham hock and simmer slowly for about 4 hours until beans are cooked tender. Then add salt and pepper to suit taste.

Just before serving, bruise beans with large spoon or ladle, enough to cloud. (Serves about 6 persons.)

And our thanks to Sen. Daniel B. Brewster for his kindness in helping us housewives cook Capitol Hill's famous bean soup.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to tell mothers whose children who wear sterling silver chains around their necks... when the child is taking a bath, if the mother will drip the sterling chain into a washbowl with a little hot water and some detergent and let it soak until the child gets through with the bath, then just lift out the chain, rinse under the faucet and dry... it will shine like new again.

By using this method you will find no more green or black marks on the children's necks.

Do this once a week.

GRANDMOTHER OF "SIX AND ONE-HALF."

Looks like you are going to be a grandmother again, eh? Congratulations!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I live in a hard water area and the build-up of lime in vessels used for heating water is terrific. Of course, vinegar will take it out but my Scotch soul used to rebel because I had to use it so often...

Then I found that I can save the vinegar and use it over and over and over again! I don't know how long it will last but I have been using the same pint for three months and it's still going strong.

GEORGIANA.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you ever tried those plastic bags which come from the cleaners for packing items for mailing? They are the greatest. They weigh so little that your postage does not run up. Try crushing these into boxes to prevent rattling.

K.S.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have embroidery floss which tangles and some leftover note paper envelopes... store your floss (one color per envelope) regardless of length or thickness and write the approximate color on the outside of the envelopes.

This way you can sort quickly through the box of envelopes to find the colors you want and they do not tangle.

MRS. J.T.R.

DEAR HELOISE: Putting moth balls in flower beds or anywhere else, helps keep the cat and kittens away! We did this and it is still working.

VELMA SMITH.

Yes, we know it works, but BE CAREFUL if there are little children around who might eat them. I'm sure that you are aware how DANGEROUS that can be.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is something I thought of when my young son was learning to tie his shoes:

It seems as if those little guys have a difficult time seeing those last "twists." I tied one black and one white shoe string together and then laced the shoes as usual.

Then as I demonstrated the loops, etc., he was able to see better how it was done. The black and white shoe string show HOW! It took him only a few tries and he was tying his own shoes properly.

MRS. EARL HARMAN.

Beauty for the asking

By JOSEPHINE KAERCHER, Beauty Consultant MERLE NORMAN COSMETICS STUDIO

Not everybody can be beautiful, but I'm convinced that every woman can be charming and attractive. A scrupulously clean complexion is the first step, of course. After that, the right makeup, correctly applied, does wonders for your looks—and your morale.

a small piece of non-absorbent paper or directly on a small brush—preferably an eye-shadow brush.

Follow the lashline of your eyelid with the tip of the brush—each eye. Then, with the brush—or your fingertip—blend lightly over the entire lid of each eye, and upwards until the shadow fades away into, or just under, your eyebrows. Pretty?

If you're using liquid eyeliner (and it's the best kind), dip brush into bottle and then shape the brush-tip to a fine point by rolling it on a small piece of non-absorbent paper.

Close the eye you're going to line. With the tip of your brush, follow the lashline, from inner corner of eyelid to outer, as close to the lashline as possible.

For that wide-open-eye look, trace the lashline under each eye and finish your eye makeup with flo-matic mascara.

If you'd like personal instruction, please phone me and let me show you how it's done—and get a free hour of beauty besides.

That's an easy statement to make. Applying makeup correctly is a skill. It's learned. And, like everything else, practice makes perfect, or almost.

For several seasons now, the eyes have had the big play. This season, they'll be more natural-looking and require even more makeup skill.

Assuming you've cleansed your face and applied your powder-base—and powder, to set it, select your favorite shade of liquid eye-shadow.

Match your costume or your eyes, within reason, of course.

Squeeze a little shadow on

Court Issues Ruling, Ballot Presses Roll

A ruling of the State Supreme Court at Columbus Thursday removed a big question mark that had hung over the appearance of the Ohio Republican ballot for the primaries May 5 and permitted the County Election Board at East Liverpool to instruct a Salem printer to start his presses rolling.
 The election board gave the green light for ballot printing to the Dodge Publishing Co., contractor, after the high court yesterday upheld an earlier ruling of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and denied a ballot spot to Lewis Schwartz of Newville. Schwartz had sought to be a candidate for the unexpired term on the State Supreme Court ending Dec. 31, 1966.

Schwartz's petitions were ruled invalid several weeks ago by Brown. The would-be candidate then went to court to seek an order compelling Brown to place his name on the ballot.

Because of the pending court case, many Ohio election boards had held up the ballot printing job.

Belgian Officials, Doctors Meet Again

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Premier Theo Lefevre's government meets again today with leaders of Belgium's striking doctors in an attempt to get them to call off the walkout and negotiate the dispute over the new socialized medical law.

The government made contact with the strike leaders Thursday for the first time since the walkout began April 1. But the strike continued in force, and the government would not commit itself to basic changes in the revised state health insurance program.

Leffevre's Catholic-Socialist coalition cannot scrap the law without running the risk of serious nationwide labor troubles. But the Cabinet wants to avoid humiliating the doctors and is anxious to find a face-saving formula.

The revised law opens the treatment records of the nation's 12,000 physicians and dentists to inspection by the government, and specifies the fees they can charge for some 3,600 separate types of treatments.

PROGRESS REPORTED
 COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Representatives of the Pressmen, Printers, mailers and Stereotypers unions told the Columbus Newspaper Council Thursday night some progress has been made in contract talks with the Dispatch Printing Co. The company publishes the Columbus Dispatch.

A spokesman for the unions said there is no danger of a strike unless negotiations collapse.

Brazil

ders Congress to meet within two days to elect a provisional president to serve the 20 months. The election is scheduled for Saturday.

The leading presidential candidate is the former army chief of staff, Gen. Humberto Castelo Branco, a leader in Goulart's ouster and a sponsor of the "institutional act."

While some Goulart sympathizers vanished to elude arrest, the military leaders justified the act by declaring their coup was an "authentic revolution," backed by "the will of the nation."

Former President Juscelino Kubitschek, the Social Democratic party's 1965 presidential candidate, hailed the measure as the final step in liquidating communism from Brazil's government.

Strike

an effort to break the industry's united front.

The railroads, in return, agreed to withdraw nationwide posting of work rules changes which are at the heart of the dispute.

Said Johnson: "We appeal to the railroad officials throughout the land and to all the members of the railroad brotherhoods to act in accordance with this agreement and in the best of faith and we pledge our efforts to do our dead level best to work out an agreement that will be in the public interest and satisfactory to all."

Both union and management spokesmen praised Johnson for his efforts.

Speaking for the railroad industry, Wayne Johnston, president of the Illinois Central, said:

"We pledge ourselves to continue efforts to reach a fair settlement in the national interest."

Roy Davidson, grand chief engineer of the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said telegrams were being sent to members of all five unions to stay on the job.

Due to the late hour of the announcement, the word apparently did not reach all union officials and there were scattered reports of walkouts.

Speed Word of Delay
George Reedy, White House press secretary, said White House communications facilities were being used to help speed official word of the postponement.

It was not at all certain when the White House talks first began shortly after 6 p.m. Thursday that Johnson would be able to halt the strike.

Reportedly, President Johnson had to use all the powers of his persuasion to win the delay.

The unions had insisted they had the right to act against individual railroads because the negotiations on the national level weren't getting anywhere. Their final agreement to call off the Illinois Central strike was a major concession.

The controversial work rules changes include proposed revision in the combined time and mileage pay structure, changes in job classifications to permit road crews to do yard work, lengthening of train runs and reduction in the manning of self-propelled equipment.

The railroads contend present rules cost them millions of dollars a year unnecessarily. The unions say the changes would eliminate many jobs and reduce pay for many union members.

Congress last year ordered compulsory arbitration of the railroads' proposed elimination of some 30,000 firemen's jobs and continued negotiations on the other issues which led to the current crisis. The firemen's issue is not involved this time because the railroads have agreed to postpone eliminating any jobs until after a pending Supreme Court ruling on a union appeal against the arbitration ruling.

The tangled dispute has exhausted all procedures of the Railway Labor Act and a number of presidential commissions.

As a result, Johnson now has no power to order the unions not to strike or tell the railroads not to impose their work rules changes. This would require more legislation from Congress.

Dalrymple Talks At Columbiana Meeting

COLUMBIANA — Addressing a large crowd assembled in Joshua Dixon School Thursday evening, Allen J. Dalrymple, GOP candidate for Congress, accused the Democrat-controlled Senate investigating committee of white-washing the Bobby Baker "mess."

"We can never make elective political choices as long as politicians are less than honest with us," Dalrymple said. "Election of a Republican-controlled Congress is the only way to see to it that all the facts in the Baker affair are made public," Dalrymple said.

Commenting on the withdrawal of John Glenn from the Senate race, Dalrymple observed that John Glenn justified America's belief in his integrity by the issuance of a statement, that in effect said, that knowing only of his space experience wasn't enough to qualify him to the voters as senatorial "timber."

Rhodes has urged formation of an Ashtabula port authority that would have the power to "do anything" in building the harbor into one of the finest on the Great Lakes. crowds in Leningrad and Tula, south of Moscow, in February and March.

U.S. diplomats believe Soviet authorities instructed the citizens beforehand to pick out the Americans and create a disturbance. On both occasions the men were in civilian clothes but were in American cars.

The embassy spokesman gave this account of the incidents:

Savage and Bracken were riding in Leningrad Feb. 14 when a crowd of "irate citizens" gathered around the auto in St. Isaac's Square.

The crowd kept Savage and Bracken in the car while they beat on the hood and crawled over it. Police shuffled them away after 15 or 20 minutes.

The U.S. spokesman denied that Savage and Bracken took any photographs.

Smith and Sventina and the Briton were involved in a similar incident in Tula March 17 while driving back to Moscow from Ore. After visiting several Tula stores, they crossed the main street and started to relax by walking in a public park.

In the park the air attaches were ringed by angry citizens and Soviet military personnel who detained them about 40 minutes and accused them of being on military property. The spokesman said the park is near an airfield but is a public facility.

"So I appeal to you to give us the leadership that will make it a fact."

Johnson referred to the tragic death of President John F. Kennedy and he provided a new twist to Kennedy's inaugural address. During the transition of government to the Johnson administration, the President said, businessmen, captains of industry and labor leaders came to the White House by the dozens and hundreds and said:

"We are enlisted for the duration. Ask me not what church I belong to or what party I vote for. Just count me in the pot as doing what is good for my country."

The motorcade drove six miles to the city's outskirts where the casket was transferred to caisson draped in black crepe and accompanied by a black riderless horse. The cortege moved through the lined streets with an honor guard of six major generals, four rear admirals, more than 600 officers and men of the armed forces and a company of West Point cadets.

In the rotunda of the memorial, the casket was placed on the purple-draped catafalque bearing a silver five-star insignia.

The rubbish disposal problem in light of an anticipated closing of the Leetonia dump, considered unsatisfactory by health authorities, prompted trustees also to ask the City Ash Co. of Youngstown to help solve the dilemma.

Two representatives Wednesday night said the company would set up a large rubbish and garbage container which would be periodically emptied as the need arose. The cost would be 15 cents a bushel.

The trustees would pay part of the cost of the service, the exact amount to be determined at a later date.

Little City Quarter-Finals Games Slated Tonight

Slaby, Miner's Face Bleep-Coombs At 8

With all five of its starters scoring in double figures, Youngstown Minaldi Jewellers knocked off Rochester Amo's Esso 99-72 in the Little City tournament at Salem Senior High gym Thursday night.

Lou Slaby, along with spectacular Brian Generalovich, and the powerful Miners Tavern squad will try to halt tough Cleveland Bleep-Coombs at 8 tonight.

The card includes eight of the classiest squads that have ever appeared here at one time in the quarter-finals.

Minaldi Jewellers, loaded with talent and considered the tourney favorite, takes on the Youngstown Pohod Insurance in the lid-lifter at 7 p.m.

Pohod earned its spot by previously beating Salem Johnny's Ashland 79-64 and Canton Saxons 79-64 earlier in the week.

Ron Sabo of Youngstown Chaney fame, and Brian Wolf, a member of this year's unbeaten Liberty team (22-0) are featured on the Pohod unit.

FARRELL H & S, with Don "Goose" Talbert (Mount Union) takes on tourney darkhorse Bedford Ray's Auto Parts at 9, and the top scoring team in the event, Cleveland CIBC, battles 1962 defending champ Ravenna Minard Sporting Goods at 10.

Minaldi's, with most of its outstanding players on hand, has to come from behind the second night in a row to pull its game out of the fire.

Little All-American Fred Jones didn't play, but it made no difference.

Down 20-19 in the initial period, Amo's Esso retaliated to take a 37-35 margin at intermission. The Youngstown crew went to work in the third session and retook the lead 61-49.

Herb Lake took top honors for Menaldi's with a 25-point effort. Jim Timmerman netted 22. He was followed by Larry Seneta, 18; Willie Bryant (Youngstown South star), 17; and Harold Davis, 15, for the most balanced scoring in the tourney so far.

Biff Aultman, who made left-handed jump shots with uncanny accuracy from the corner, led the Rochester crew with 19 markers. Larry Zeh chalked up 17, Jim Irons 15, and Elmer Reed, 12.

IN OTHER ACTION last night, Cleveland OIC clouted East Liverpool Book and Bible 51-39 at intermission and 75-51 at the end of the third.

Jim Kimmie took scoring honors for the Cleveland unit with 14 baskets and two foul shots for 30 points. Charles Tucker chipped in with 25, and Harold Mason netted 11. Milt Martin canned 15 markers for the losers.

9 BLEPP-COOMBS raced to a 16-7 lead in the first frame, increased that margin to 32-30 at half time and held a comfortable 62-41 spread at the end of the third stanza.

The winners got balanced scoring as Don Gacey chalked up 18 points, Ron Boswell, 17; Tom Schaefer, 13; Joe Perella and Bill Meyer, 12 apiece and Verly Witte, 10.

Bill Kay led Catering Service with 17 markers. Eli Danilov carded 13, John Sinclair, 10; and Walt Brian, former Salem star, seven.

Farrell led all the way against Wellsville Uncle Pete's by quarter scores of 21-15, 38-26 and 56-39.

Dennis Thompson chalked up 20 points to pace the winners. Roy Winston chipped in with 18. Vince Gile led the losers with 21 markers.

MILT PITTS of Joey's Club 61 went on a 43-point scoring spree (tourney individual high), but it wasn't enough as Ray's Auto Parts got a 39-point scoring effort from Skeeter Wallace and 23 markers from Dave Costlow.

Bedford took a 22-16 lead in the initial period, held a 48-36 margin at intermission and a 70-52 spread at the end of the third stanza.

Pitts is an all-state high school player at Mansfield St. Peter. Joe Homes and Bill Semanof had 14 points apiece for the losers.

Defending champ Minard's took an 18-12 lead in the initial quarter, held a 41-33 margin at half time and a 63-49 lead at the end of the third session.

Keyse Sohio made 25 straight foul shots before missing, and ended up with 31 of 34 from the free throw line. Gary Prahst collected seven baskets and 14 fouls for 28 points to take scoring honors for the losers.

Bob Green paced the winners with 19 markers. Charles Boykin chipped in with 18, Bill Turner, 15; and Jim Maddox, 12.

Columbiana Enters Mt. Lebanon Meet

Columbiana, with its two outstanding stars Jim Ward and Fred Gosney featured in Saturday's Tri-State track and field meet at Mt. Lebanon, Pa., lost 53-47 to Canfield Wednesday.

Running on their own track, in the season opener, the Clippers got their usual superb performances from sprint star Ward and hurdle specialist Gosney.

Ward a double winner breezed through the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds flat, and dashed the 220-yard dash in 22.

Gosney picked up three firsts. He won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.2, and the 180-yard low hurdles in 20.5. In between the two events, he won the high jump by clearing the bar at five feet, eight inches.

Jack Barnhart was a double winner for Canfield. He threw the discus 131 feet, and the shot put 37 feet, 10 inches for his victories.

185 Schools Entered In 2-Day Classic

Record Field Set For Test In Mansfield Track Carnival

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The famed Mansfield High School Relays, which have provided some of Ohio's greatest athletes their first stepping stone to state, national and Olympic titles, open a two-day stand today with a record-breaking

A total of 2,163 athletes from 185 schools—41 from Michigan, 4 from Pennsylvania and the remainder from Ohio—are set for the tests in this Midwest classic.

The entry is far over the record of 150 schools set in 1961 and 1,680 boys set in 1958. Some of the boost undoubtedly is due to transfer of the meet from Mansfield Senior High's antiquated plant to the new ultra-modern setup at Malabar High.

Harry Mehock, 61-year-old track coach who founded the event in 1927 and has directed it since, said the new facilities are the best in the Midwest.

The rubber-asphalt track has 10 lanes of 42 inches each and a pair of 274-yard straightaways. Double areas are available for the shot put, discus and high jump, and triple areas for the broad jump and pole vault—the latter two with twin runways for each.

A four-mile relay, with about 20 schools entered, was the lone event on today's schedule. Preliminaries on the others are slated Saturday morning, with the championships in the afternoon.

Cleveland East Tech, winner the last two years and victor nine times, is back with another stellar set of competitors. The Scarabs, under Coach Estus Newberry, won the Cleveland indoor title recently with a well-balanced performance.

There's no entry fee for the meet, but certain minimum requirements on performance must be met by the athletes. Dozens of team and individual trophies will be presented.

Lightweights Drop 63-23 Decision

Salem Freshmen Win 93-25; Heavyweights Tie Boardman

Salem's freshmen opened their track season with an impressive 93-25 victory over Marlington at Reilly Field Wednesday.

The seventh and eighth grade Quakers' squads meet Boardman here Thursday.

The Spartans battled the Red and Black heavyweights to a 43-43 tie, while the lightweights dropped a 63-23 decision to the visitors.

Terry Sheets, an eighth grade sprint star, paced the ninth graders to their victory as he won the 100-yard dash in 11.6, the broad jump with a leap of 16 feet, 7 inches, and was a member of the winning half-mile relay team. He finished with a total of 11½ points.

Farb Tinsley won the discus throw with a toss of 100 feet, placed second in the 440-yard dash, and was a member of the mile-relay team. He and Gary Franklin, who was first in the high hurdles, collected 9½ points apiece.

Bill Rist was first in the low hurdles, and second in the high hurdles. He chalked up eight markers.

Gary Franklin set an eighth grade record in the 120-yard hurdles, when he was timed in 15.3 for the event against the Spartans.

Terry Sheets was first in the century in 11.75 and also took the broad jump with a leap of 16 feet, 3¾ inches.

Brook Scott tied Sheets for scoring honors with 11½ points as he won the 75-yard dash and the 220-yard dash and was a member of the winning 880-yard relay team.

Akron Joe's All-Stars takes on Auto Body of East Liverpool at 7 p.m.; Ravenna Minard Sporting Goods faces Troyers at 9 p.m.; and Youngstown Pohod Insurance goes against Railroad Construction at 10 p.m.

Last night's action saw Minard whip Woodruff AC 56-46, Troyers nip J and M Mining 62-61, and Railroad Construction dump St. Clemens 52-43 in the independent bracket.

In the faculty division, Leontia trimmed United 40-28, and East Liverpool clipped West Branch 47-30.

The Los Angeles Dodgers listed 24 spring exhibition games in Florida but only six of them were scheduled for their Vero Beach training site.

Former heavyweight champ Rock Marciano won 43 of his 49 being matches by knockouts, more than half of them in three rounds or less.

Detroit Tiger Manager Charlie Dresen won National League pennants with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1952 and 1953.

Aviators Bolstered By 8 Lettermen

Alliance Track Team Meets Salem Under Lights Tonight

With eight lettermen back, and a promising group of underclassmen, Alliance should provide Salem with its first acid test of the season in a track and field meet at Reilly Stadium tonight at 7:30.

Tickets for the event will cost 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

The first race of the evening, the 120-yard high hurdles, should open the meet with plenty of excitement. Mike O'Connor, who finished fifth in the event in the district meet last year, will be the man to beat.

Kirk Ritchie, a veteran Salem hurdler, figures to give the Alliance athlete all the competion he can handle. Reed Wilson of the Quakers is also ready for the test, and could easily pull an upset in the event.

O'Connor took the 180-yard low hurdles here a year ago, when the Aviators dropped a 68-50 decision to the Quakers.

The meet tonight will be the first of the campaign for coach Julius Tonges and his Aviators aggregation. The Quakers outclassed Wellsville 104-14 in their opener Tuesday.

Another monogram winner for Alliance, Lewis Calloway, is likely to push the Red and Black's Tom Pim to an even more impressive time than the 2:09 he has already established in the 880-yard run so far this year. Charles Spivey is also a threat for Alliance in the high and low hurdles and the broad jump.

Alliance, usually known for its sprint stars, has a pair of veterans set for action. Bob Connell will compete in the 100, 200 and 440-yard dashes, while Ron Haskins is set for competition in the short sprints and the pole vault.

In the weights, the Aviators are counting on letterman Art Allen. Frank Lon is a veteran hurdler and broad jumper, and 1-11 Zumbard competes in the quarter-mile event.

If the track is fast, John Tarleton, Salem co-captain who has been practicing hard in the distance races, may be clocked under 4:40.

Tarleton has set his sights on the all-time mile record of 4:27 set by Harold Walker, back in the late 1930's.

Sophomore Jim Windmar, who got off a leap of 19 feet, 5 inches in the broad jump Tuesday, won't compete against the Aviators.

He injured his knee during the Wellsville meet after getting off his winning broad jump, which is considered the best leap by a Salem athlete in several years.

Boston Whips Cincy For 8th In Row

Russell's Great Play Gives Celtics Title

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP)—"There's my man," said Celtics Coach Red Auerbach, rolling a big cigar around his mouth in obvious glee. "Bill Russell. You can have all those other guys."

"The big factor was when Russell laced on his shoes," said Coach Jack McMahon of the losers.

Both comments summed up the feeling Thursday night after Boston had won its eighth straight Eastern Division playoff title by beating Cincinnati 109-95.

The Celtics mopped up the best-of-seven National Basketball Association series in five games and now await the outcome of the Western Division final between St. Louis and the Warriors, which continues at San Francisco Friday night. The teams are tied 2-2.

For his 47 minutes, Russell grabbed 35 rebounds, scored 20 points, had seven assist, six blocked shots, two interceptions, one steal and countless unnerving leaps which forced Royals' shooters to aim off course.

"Boston is simply great," said McMahon. "They forced us into errors and always moved the ball to the open man."

"But that Russell," he added, pointing emphatically at the meet, but certain minimum requirements on performance must be met by the athletes. Dozens of team and individual trophies will be presented.

"This has been a fantastic year," Auerbach said. "This seaso has been worth everything and more. You can't lose a guy like Bob Cousy and not be hurt. Then we lost our first draft choice, Bill Green. Yes, this was my best series ever.

"This ought to shut them up for awhile, too. I was sick of hearing about the fact Cincinnati beat us seven out of 12 during the regular season. The times they beat us we were 10 games out in front and Tommy Heinsohn missed three games."

In the rugged final game, Jerry Lucas of the Royals got a lump on the back of his head and an injured elbow after colliding with K.C. Jones in the fourth minute of the game.

McMahon said, "I hope so," when asked if he thought he would be returned as Royals coach next year.

Sam Jones scored 23 points and Heinsohn 19 for Boston, Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson got 24, only nine of them in the first half when Boston spurred out to a 33-19 first-quarter edge.

Palmer Tied With Four Others For Masters Lead

Nicklaus Only 2 Strokes Off

Hogan Shoots 73; Snead Skids To 79

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, smoking less and finally enjoying it, mustered the deserters back to Arnie's Army today after he opened his biennial charge at the Masters Golf Tournament title with a first-round 69.

It was good for one-fifth of the opening-round lead, as the five tied for the lead composed the largest bunch at the top since the tournament began in 1934.

Gary Player of South Africa, who won the Masters in 1961 and lost to Palmer in a playoff the next year, also had 69. So did Kel Nagle of Australia, who nosed out Palmer for the British Open title in 1960.

The other two in the five-man cluster were Bob Goalby, a tour veteran who said he "has been in a slump for a year and a half," and Davis Love Jr., a bespectacled club pro who looks more like a baffled bookkeeper than a golfer.

Jack Nicklaus, defending champion and favorite to be the first man ever to win twice in a row, almost made it a six-way tie when he rapped his second shot to within 12 feet of the pin on the 18th hole.

Nicklaus needed the putt for a birdie three and a 69, but he hit the hole and skidded four feet past, missed that one coming back and finished with a 71. "I had 37 putts," Nicklaus said. "You can't win tournaments with 37 putts."

Palmer, who won the Masters in 1958, 1960 and 1962, picked up recruits for his gallery army-enlistments had been falling off during his long slump since late last summer—when he smashed clanging wood shots over the water on the 13th and 15th holes and collected birdie 4s on each. Part of the blame for Palmer's cold spell had been laid to his decision to give up smoking, probably the most public habit-kicking since they put Prince Albert in the can.

"I'm smoking less, in fact, not at all," he said. "And I'm finally enjoying it."

In all, 19 players in the field of 96 hit par 72 or better. Ten of them were foreigners.

Four shot 70, among them Billy Joe Patton, the witty and exciting amateur player from Morganton, N.C.

Patton, who shot a hole-in-one and missed tying for the title in 1964 by one stroke, made an eagle three when he chipped in from off the green on the 15th hole and came to the last hole needing only a par for a tie for the lead.

He hit his approach badly, finished 50 feet from the cup, and three-putted. Also at 70 were Don January, Gene Littler and Dave Marr. January had an eagle on the par five 13th.

Ben Hogan, two-time winner who at 51 is still rated one of the best shot-makers around, posted a 73 and was in position to make a good showing. Gene Sarazen, who won in 1935, also had a 73.

Sam Snead, the veteran who had been rated a serious threat, eked to a sad 79.

Pastrano Defends Fight Title Against Argentine's Peralta

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Light-heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano defends his crown against Argentine challenger Gregorio Peralta tonight in a 15-round scrap just a stone's throw from Pastrano's native French Quarter.

For Pastrano, it will be the first defense of the title he won last June in a close decision over Harold Johnson in Las Vegas.

It will also be the largest purse in the 12½-year pro career of Pastrano, who now fights out of Miami Beach, Fla. Peralta, virtually unknown until he conquered Pastrano last Sept. 20 in a 10-round non-title bout, hopes to become the first South American big man to win a world professional boxing title.

The championship fight, in the city's Municipal Auditorium, will be nationally telecast by ABC starting at 10 p.m., EST.

Pastrano was rated only even money by the oddsmakers, even though this is his native city. Peralta will be going the 15-round distance for the first time in his career. The 6-foot, wide-shouldered Argentine will also be fighting at a weight—175—he hasn't made in more than a year.

The Latin challenger, third-ranked contender, weighed 183½ pounds to Pastrano's 179 in their first fight.

Peralta's handlers have been keeping his weight a dark secret during the week he has been in training in New Orleans. But Charley Johnson, his American manager, said Peralta would make the 175-pound limit by today's noon weigh-in.

Both fighters are 28. The champion has a 61-12-3 record including 12 knockouts while Peralta, undefeated in his last 29 bouts, shows a 39-3-4 mark, including 18 kayoes.

South America has produced only two world champions, both in the lighter divisions. Pascual Perez of Argentina held the 112-pound flyweight title from 1954-1960 and Brazil's Eder Jofre is the current 118-pound bantamweight ruler.

"We played too well to lose," General Manager-Coach Punch Imlach said. "If we had lost there would have been non justice. We should have gotten a lot more goals, but they could easily have tied the game too."

The 39-year-old Bower took care of that, time after time turning back the charging Canadians.

"Don't let anyone kid you," said Imlach. "Bowers was the big guy in there."

At Chicago, the Red Wings again were forced to employ their two-goal set-up with Terry Sawchuk handling the first two periods and Roger Crozier taking over in the final session. Sawchuk had been knocked to the ice by Reg Fleming in the second period.

Barons Take 2-0 Lead In AHL Playoff

Big Joe Dzura, 24-year-old center on the Cleveland Barons' No. 2 line, has become the darling of Cleveland's hockey fans in the American Hockey League playoffs, scoring nine goals and sparking the Barons to four straight victories.

The fans had plenty of cheers for Dzura Thursday night as the Barons handed Hershey a 5-1 defeat to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-five semifinal series.

The Barons can eliminate the Bears with another victory Saturday night on the Hershey ice.

The Quebec Aces get another chance tonight to close out their best-of-seven semifinal series with Pittsburgh. The Aces carry a 3-1 lead into the game on their home ice.

Szura, who scored only 23 goals in the regular season, tallied six goals in the two-game quarterfinal playoff against Rochester, which the Barons won in two straight, added another in the Barons' 7-1 victory over the Bears Tuesday night, and tallied twice Thursday night.

Cards Ship Sore-Armed Washburn To Minors; Dodgers Trade Sherry

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer Ray Washburn, whose right arm—when sound—is thought to be big enough to lift St. Louis' pennant chances, is on his way down to the minors for at least the first 2½ weeks of the season.

The Cardinals said Thursday they were sending Washburn to Jacksonville of the International League where they hope he will strengthen the arm that hasn't been sound since the early part of last season.

"We've been using come caution with him," St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane explained Thursday night. "As a result he hasn't got quite as much work as we wanted him to get. We're leaving him in warm weather whereas we might run into bad weather elsewhere."

Keane explained that the 25-year-old hurler must remain, under baseball rules, with Jacksonville for at least 10 days after its season starts. Washburn, therefore won't be available to the Cards until May 2.

With his return, the Cards hope their pennant chances will soar.

Washburn, tore a shoulder muscle after winning his first five games in 1963. He lost three games before taking a trip to Tulsa of the Texas League where he recorded a 7.80 earned run average.

The injury broke up a solid starting rotation of Washburn, Bob Gibson, Ernie Broglio and Curt Simmons. The Cards finished second, six games behind Los Angeles. Some think a well Washburn would've put the Cardinals into the World Series.

Until the 6-foot-2, 200-pounder again can become a starter, Roger Craig, the erstwhile Met, will join the other three in St. Louis' regular rotation.

In other developments, the Los Angeles Dodgers traded relief pitcher Larry Sherry, star of the 1959 World Series, to Detroit for minor league outfielder Lou Johnson and $10,000. Milwaukee sent catcher Bob Uecker to St. Louis for catcher Jim Coker and outfielder Gary Kolb. Exhibition play saw Houston batter the Cards and Gibson 7-1. Cincinnati beat the Chicago White Sox 5-2 while Baltimore clubbed Milwaukee and Warren Spahn 5-2.

Camilo Pascual hurled Minnesota to a 4-1 triumph over the New York Mets, the Chicago Cubs defeated Boston 9-4, San Francisco crushed Cleveland 9-3 behind the pitching of Juan Marichal, Washington whipped the New York Yankees 7-3 and Kansas City got by Detroit 6-4.

Gets Final Tuneup Today

Grant May Open For Tribe Against Twins

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Jim (Mudcat) Grant, expected to be Cleveland's opening day pitcher next Tuesday, gets his final tuneup today against the San Francisco Giants.

Acting Indians Manager George Strickland hasn't officially announced Grant as his choice, but indications in training camp are that the veteran right-hander will be on the mound when the Tribe opens the regular season against the Minnesota Twins in Cleveland.

Grant, a 6-foot, 185-pounder, had a 13-14 record last season. The Tribe lost, 9-3, Thursday to the Giants at Modesto as Juan Marichal did a masterful job during a five-inning stint. He held the Indians runless, allowed two hits, walked none and struck out three.

Rookie righthander Ron Herbel yielded the three Cleveland runs. Al Luplow homered for the Tribe with one aboard in the eighth, and Leon Wagner belted a solo roundtripper in the ninth.

The Giants got six runs on seven hits mainly at the expense of Cleveland starter Pedro Ramos. Jerry Walker, who took over in the sixth, gave up the other runs.

News of the World in Pictures

WITH A "LIGHT" TOUCH—Influence of Thomas A. Edison is seen in these rows of Royal Palms in Fort Myers, Fla., for years the late inventor's winter home.

CUSTOM TOUR—Following a traditional Burmese custom, Denmark's Foreign Minister Per Haekkerue (right) walks barefoot through famous Shwedagon Pagoda in Rangoon. No one wearing shoes is allowed on premises of the pagoda.

SKYSCRAPERS WITH A VIEW—Feeling like a modern-day Gulliver, Graham Randles admires models of luxurious apartment skyscrapers at London toy fair.

A TWO-SEATER—A submarine built for two is demonstrated in Munich. At top, the occupants get ready for a dive (bottom). Sub is for new research.

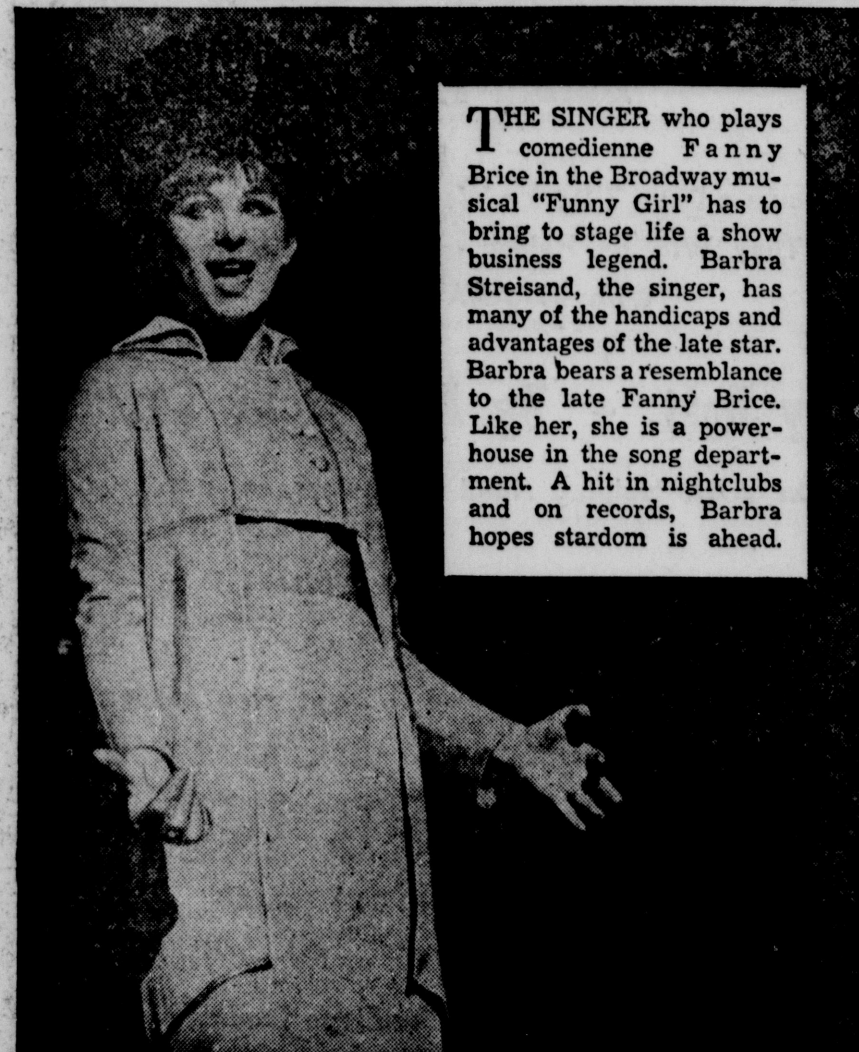

Fanny in 1936 Ziegfeld Follies.

IT'S A "FUNNY" BUSINESS

In her first starring role on Broadway, Barbra does a Brice-like dance.

THE SINGER who plays comedienne Fanny Brice in the Broadway musical "Funny Girl" has to bring to stage life a show business legend. Barbra Streisand, the singer, has many of the handicaps and advantages of the late star. Barbra bears a resemblance to the late Fanny Brice. Like her, she is a powerhouse in the song department. A hit in nightclubs and on records, Barbra hopes stardom is ahead.

Bob Merrill (right) and Julie Styne (piano) rehearse Barbra in her role. King Features Syndicate.

A SPECTATOR HERE—Director and film star Orson Welles (center) puffs anxiously on a cigar while he views the first corrida (bull fight) of season in Madrid.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

We had a good time at the home show. One thousand people registered at our booth and made a guess on the retail price of the cart load of food.

Only one person guessed the exact amount and she was Mrs. Richard Lozier Jr. of Salem. I called her and she got her groceries.

The next ten nearest each get two steak dinners. Anyone who came within seven cents of the right amount gets 2 free steak dinners. The amount was $27.53.

The names of the ten steak dinner winners are posted here in the store.
